Grave Crisis and Great Internal Danger to Russia Revealed in Recent Clash in Duma.

CABINET AND DELEGATES COME INTO COLLISION.

Serious Political Complication Settled; Details Kept Secret.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, Nov. 20 (via London, Nov. 21, 2:01 p.m.)—Yielding developments in the last few days, which witnessed the recovery of Russia from a most serious political crisis, make it now possible to describe briefly events which brought about a collision between the present Cabinet and the popular movement of public opinion, which more and more loudly prodded the government.

The American Press informed on the best authority that an agreement has been reached which entitles the representatives of the people. The nature of this agreement probably will not be disclosed in the course of a few days.

The event is interpreted generally as a victory for the Duma. Its chief significance is the political awakening of the nation and the development of the real public consciousness, for perhaps the first time in Russian history has become articulate and can be ignored no longer. Among the effects expected from the present agreement is the final burial of all rumors of a separate peace.

Delay Asked by Austro-German Diplomats in Deportation from Athens has been Refused and They Quit Today—New Demands Presented to Swiss by the Entente Powers.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A dispatch from Reuter's Telegram Company from Athens says the delay demanded by the Austro-German diplomats in their deportation from Athens has been refused, and that all of them will leave Athens Wednesday morning.

BRIAND'S SUGGESTION.

Reuter's Athens correspondent, telegraphing under yesterday's date, says:

"The main topic of discussion at this morning's session of the Crown Council was the refusal of the German and Austrian ministers to accept Vice-Admiral du Fournet's demands, and the attitude to be taken by King Constantine in the event of their demanding his protection.

It was learned that Premier Briand and Foreign Minister King suggested that in order to emerge from his present difficulties he seek a reconciliation with former Prime Minister Venizelos and declare war on Bulgaria.

A new agency dispatch from Athens yesterday said the German, Austro-Hungarian, Bulgarian and Turkish ministers to Greece had been informed by Vice-Admiral Du Fournet.

VEGETABLE CROPS ROT; PRICE PLOT SUSPECTED.

Government Officials Investigating High Cost Have Reason to Believe that Dealers are Allowing Food to go to Waste to Cause a Shortage—Complaint of Bean Combination has been Received.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Definite information to support rumors that produce dealers are permitting fruits and vegetables to rot in the fields in order to cause a shortage and increase prices came to the government officials who are investigating the causes of the present high price of food, today.

R. L. Brundage, a farmer of Gary, Ind., reported that he had sold his crop of seven acres of pumpkins for cash. When the crop ripened and the pumpkins were allowed to rot in the field, he tried to find the buyer and learned that the name and address of the dealer could not be found.

That similar conditions prevail elsewhere and that speculators are buying potatoes, cucumbers, carrots, pumpkins, apples, peaches, fruits and vegetables and allowing them to rot unpicked have been rumored in the Federal investigation from time to time.

Concern also has received that a combination to raise the price of beans exists, and that large quantities of them, both in bulk and in cans, are being held in Norfolk, Va.; Philadelphia and San Francisco.

THE LOS ANGELES ADVERTISING SCORE.

In printing the advertising records of all the daily and Sunday newspapers in Los Angeles every day The Times does not attempt to mislead or deceive its readers by using figures that concern only certain kinds of advertising. It boldly publishes the figures of all classes of advertising printed in each local newspaper.

The juggling of figures is left to those newspapers that dare not make honest comparisons.

For the week ending Sunday, November 19, the Los Angeles newspapers published the following number of lines of advertising (2000 agate lines make one column):

WAGES RAISED.

Action by the Steel Corporation.

Two Hundred Thousand Employees Receive Ten Percent Advance.

Twenty Million Dollars is Added Voluntarily to the Pay Rolls.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The United States Steel Corporation tonight announced an increase of 10 per cent. of wages of employees of its steel and iron companies; effective December 15 next. Wage and salary advances in other departments of the corporation also will be equitably adjusted, it was stated.

The increase affects in all about 200,000 employees, and probably adds nearly $20,000,000 to the corporation's pay roll.

GARY'S STATEMENT.

"Ordinarily the question of wages would not come up for consideration or decision at this time of the year," said Chairman Elbert H. Gary, in making the announcement, "but in consequence of abnormal conditions now existing, it has been decided to increase the wage rates of our iron and steel companies about 10 per cent. to take effect December 15. As in other departments, increases will be equitably proportioned."

Chairman Gary declined to make further comment, but the corporation said the action of the directors was taken "with due regard for the higher prices prevailing for necessities in all parts of the country."

TOTAL SALARIES.

Total salaries and wages paid to the company's 191,126 employees in 1915 aggregated $176,500,564. Since that time the number of employees has greatly increased and several wage advances have been made. It is estimated the pay roll of the steel corporation at this time is between $190,000,000 and $200,000,000, which includes an increase of approximately $20,000,000 under the higher wage rates.

The average wage or salary per employee in 1915 was $92 a day, an increase of $1.50 over the previous year. The advance to take effect in December will raise the average of wages and salaries to the same rate.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Frank Hagerman, acting as special counsel for the Federal government, today filed in the Federal District Court before Judge William C. Hook, a petition asking an immediate decision on the injunction against the Adamson eight-hour law, asked by the receivers of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf Railroad.

The purpose of the suit, it was said, was to get a decision on the constitutionality of the Adamson law by the United States Supreme Court before January 1, when the law becomes effective.

The petition also asks for an order from Judge Hook directing the receivers of this road to join with the government in getting the case advanced before the Supreme Court, which convenes December 4.

P. NIGHT WIRE.)WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The European war after the war, viewed with increasing seriousness here, is being watched carefully by American consular officers abroad, and reports are being received regularly at the department from many different sources. It became known today that all available facts are being sent to Washington, both as to the progress already made in the economic struggle and as to the future.Lee also made his speech the occasion for endorsing President Wilson highly for his past efforts in behalf of the League of Nations, and the President and Congress would carry on pledges previously made by the workers. Reference to Wilson as "one of the masters of the American people" was made by Lee.Officials here think the American people do not fully realize the possible effects of such post-bellum strife on their huge foreign trade, which is estimated at $6,000,000,000 annually.Uncertain as to the future and varying as are all the reports, no doubt is felt here that the country faces a grave economic danger, and it is impossible to prepare against it in case of war.Legislation along this line will be introduced in Congress. The Webb bill allows American firms to compete for foreign trade without violation of the anti-trust laws, it is to be urged again in the President's next address.After the departure of the last Congress, it is expected to be named shortly and to submit a programme designed to free America's seaborne trade from dependence on foreign countries. Maximum and minimum tariff automatically favor friends and punish enemies discriminating against American goods is another proposed measure before which will be submitted for consideration by the new tariff commission.The State Department is interested in the threatened trade competition of the United States for this reason that as many consular officers as possible to be in this country at the time will be sent to the fourth annual meeting of the National Foreign Trade Conference at Pittsburgh January 25-27. Among those who are expected to attend are Consul-General-at-Large R. J. Trotter, who has just returned from a tour of Europe.Consul-General J. H. Snodgrass from Moscow; Consul F. W. Smith from Tiflis; Consul J. A. L. M. Gottschalk from Jemerdji.REPORTS VARY.Reports to the department vary widely in their interpretation of the probabilities abroad. It is apparent that personal hatred among the combatants will result in practical boycott against countries which are neutrals or friendly neutrals, unfriendly neutrals and enemies, will be declared by official act.Nevertheless, it is pointed out that the provisions of the Paris economic commission are against the rest of the world, already to a large degree have been carried out. The black market there is rapidly made public. Mutual competition and freedom from certain tariffs also is towed. Raw materials have been placed very largely under allied domination. Officially therefore are the provisions of the Paris economic commission.June, which sought to bind the alliance, has been rejected by the rest of the world, already to a large degree have been carried out. Plurality for President
San Francisco 14,652.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—After a careful checking up of all precincts all over the State there is no probability of Wilson losing California according to the announcement made today by the Democratic State Central Committee. Their candidate shows the lowest Democratic vote to be 1269 votes ahead of the lastest Republican. The lastest state has a lead of 289 over the highest Republican.

San Francisco's final figure in the election, as given out today, Klink, Bean & Co., expert accountants for the State Central Committee, Presidential election, compiled at noon today.

The total vote here was 151,700 more than shown in the official returns.

The usual annual variation between the votes of different electors on the same day showing that several hundred voters for some reason or other did not vote.

The highest Democratic elector was Francis J. Hensel, who left here for El Paso and voted 78,225 votes. The lowest Democratic elector was Tyler, with 77,781 votes.

JOHN A. BRITTON'S LEAD.—At the registrar's office it was determined that the official Wilson plurality here was 15,971. The total vote was 151,700.

John A. Britton led the State electors with 43,181 votes.

Coolidge and Clark were the next two, with 42,000 and 41,900 respectively.

Figured as between Hensel, the highest Democratic elector, and Clark, the lowest on list, Tyler for the Democratic list and Coolidge for the Republican, the difference is 14,524. Final results will be fixed October 26 as the Chickasaw entered Santa Feast of the Democrats and the Republicans the clear Wilson plurality is 14,525.

THE FIGURES.—The complete totals follow:

Democratic — Doheny, 78,225; Puter, 77,781; Heney, 75,971; John A. Britton, 43,181; Clark, 42,000; Coolidge, 41,900; Tandy, 41,858; Tyler, 77,878; Barnes, 77,878; Handley, 77,931; Del Val, 77,931; and Tyler, 77,788.

Republican — Coolidge, 42,000; Tandy, 42,000; Heney, 75,971; Clark, 41,900; Doheny, 78,225; Puter, 77,781; John A. Britton, 43,181; Barnes, 77,878; Tyler, 77,878; Handley, 77,931; Del Val, 77,931; and Tyler, 77,788.

REPUBLICAN.—Carson, Carl Pfeiffer, a Cuban, Edgar Koch, German at Santa Rosalia, was killed.

In addition to the fifty names in the town. Two other names they did not know, were reported to have been killed.

His son, Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent, married beneath his station and forced his father to accept the situation.

His beloved wife, Empress Elizabeth, was assassinated in Switzerland September 10, 1898.

His son, Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent, and his wife were assassinated.

SAFETY.—More than 2,000,000 of his best soldiers melt away in the war now in progress and his dual empire shaken and falling apart.

Died November 21, 1916.

BELIEF OF CREDENCE.—At a p. m. Nov. 21, Sacramento, a Mexican physician, from Parral, said Hoernlein had been captured by the court-martial whose sentence was executed notwithstanding intercession in his behalf by the government of the United States, England and France.

The physician, Dr. Cremin, expressed the belief that even in case the return of Francisco and Leon should arrive late at Sacramento, Villa's intentions could be carried out.

HOERNLEIN.—Monday night, the condemned by law. Such a scene as has been found in the forty years of his life tabulated would make no difference in the total for the State.

HOERNLEIN.—Tuesday morning.

EMPLOYEES IN GOLD.—At a p. m. Nov. 21,—All salaried Mexican government employees are payable in 10 per cent. according to Mexican currency.

Cleanliness. To maintain in a condition of absolute cleanliness the large number of cars, constantly in operation in every part of the country under conditions of dust and dirt unavoidable in railroad operation and annually accommodating approximately twenty-five million passengers, requires an elaborate organization trained by years of experience and maintained at a large annual expenditure.

The modern Pullman car contains everything essential to cleanliness and sanitation which the best experts upon these subjects have been able to devise.

After every trip each car is thoroughly cleaned and at frequent intervals fumigated in accordance with state and federal standards.

To accomplish this three hundred and eighty three cleaning stations, with over four thousand yard employees, are maintained in various cities.

By such thorough and consistent effort every Pullman passenger receives the greatest possible protection from the discomfort of dust and dirt usually associated with railway travel.

Railroad Record. ADAMSON LAW IN TEST CASE.

Agreement by Railroads may Hasten Submission.

May Select Santa Fe Suit to Present the Issues.

Decision of Supreme Court
Would End Litigation.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The constitutionality of the Adamson Act may be determined by the Supreme Court before January 1, when it becomes effective, through an understanding between the railroads of the country attacking it and the Department of Justice. Attorneys of the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Burlington roads conferred with Atty.-Gen. Gregory and Solicitor-General Davis tonight, and it was understood the question was discussed of making a test case of one of the suits with a view to bringing the law before the Supreme Court as soon as possible.

Although department officials were reticent about the conference, it is believed further negotiations will be undertaken tomorrow, and that there is prospect of an agreement which would put the issue on one case. If this course is adopted both the department and the railroads will make every effort to expedite the trial as far as possible for the test. Although the question arose first today at Kansas City in the case of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf, the present idea is to make the fight on the suit of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe for hearing there Tuesday.

DECISION NOT BINDING.

A decision by the Supreme Court would not in law be binding on other litigants, but if the railroads and the department agreed that all parties should abide by a decision in this case, no other suits would be begun and those already instituted would be dropped.

Both sides are represented as anxious that there be an early decision of the validity of the Adamson Act, in view of the importance of the issues involved and the unusual condition which may result from failure to have a final interpretation promptly.

PASADENA, Nov. 22.—The bakers are trying to unravel the mystery which surrounds the fact that two strange women who were seen in here suddenly as a gust of wind Sunday night gave a garage man a phonix stick pin as security for services valued at $10.

At 10 o'clock Sunday night a drayman from Los Angeles drove up at a local hotel, dumped off two trunks, said that a Miss Williams of Los Angeles had given him $10 to haul them, and informed the landlord that she was to meet him in about half an hour she and another woman, both dressed extravagantly and wearing heavy fur, arrived by auto and rented a $1.00 room. They had a 10-year-old boy and a pet monkey with them.

Shortly before midnight they went to the Main-street garage, informed the man in charge that they had to go, and when he gave them $10 to make the trip, took their overalls and deposited them at a hotel. They had registered here as Stuart and Denton. They registered there as Lawrence and Stuart.

When the drayman asked for his pay, they offered him "O. U." for a short sum of money, but would be able to give him his pay in a few days. He demanded security, so one of the women gave him a throat clasp which cost $10. The drayman set in platinum. He took it and came home. Today a jeweler informed him that the pin was worth about 55 cents retail. It is an ordinary hair ornament. The local officers believe that the women are evading someones.

GLENDALE, Nov. 21.—To line the streets of Glendale with shade trees is the purpose of the women who form the Tuesday Afternoon Club and have organized an auxiliary to the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. W. C. Richardson, No. 400 South Central avenue, who is president of the movement, has urged the schools to co-operate with the women in the tree planting movement, with the result that the pupils in the schools have volunteered to assist in the civic improvement.

The city forester has furnished several hundred young trees, which will be planted by the children along the park strips of the city.

"There was a time," said Mrs. Richardson today, "when all the country which is now Glendale, was a forest of live oaks and sycamores trees. The trees were cut down for firewood, and the first settlers found the land almost denuded.

Persons on the other side come back with the argument that four years ago it was allowed to the President of the United States to make a speech in which he and his administration are judged by their fruits during that period of time.

Why Rheumatism Comes With Cold Weather

(By VALENTINE MOTT PIERCE, M. D.)
A close connection exists between these two—cold weather and rheumatism. Prof. Alex. Haig, of London, has the most followers in the medical profession in the belief that the presence in the system of uric acid, or urates, in excess, is the real cause of rheumatism. Everyone has recognized the difference in appearance of their water as soon as it gets cold; there is often a copious accumulation of uric acid in the system, which, in turn, causes rheumatism, or gout, or creaky joints, swollen fingers or painful joints.

For our reason the water does not throw off the uric acid but continues sweating, as in the hot weather, and the kidneys are unable to take care of the double burden. Another reason is that people do not drink as much water in cold weather as in summer, which helps to flush the kidneys. Again, they eat more meat in cold weather, and some people are so susceptible that they soon develop rheumatism after eating meat.

At all such times persons should drink copiously of hot water, say a pint morning and night, and take Aspiric three or four times a day. This Aspiric comes in tablet form and can be had at almost any drug store. It dissolves the uric acid in the system and carries it outwards. It would advise everyone to take Aspiric occasionally and continue for three or four weeks, and in that way avoid rheumatism, gout and many of the painful disorders due to uric acid in the system.

Make yourself healthy and strong by open-air exercise and diet. Then cleanse the liver by occasionally stimulating its action with a pleasant laxative composed of the May apple, dried juice of aloes, and root of jalap. Sugar-coated and long sold all drugists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THEY TELL OF UNION TACTICS.

Caption Case Witnesses Talk of Terror Reign.

Say Contractors Were Driven Out of Business.

Clocks Used in Dynamiting are Exhibited.

Just how contractors were badged, beaten and driven out of business by the union labor organizations prior to the breaking up of the dynamiting programme, by the arrest of the McNamara's and dozens of others, was told yesterday in the trial of David Caplan, accused of complicity in the killing of twenty-four in the employ of twenty-four on October 1, 1916.

One of the witnesses, Alphonse Von Spreckelsen, told of how his business had been utterly ruined, and how he had been beaten by a farmer. He was brought here by Prosecution Attorneys Doran and Hayes, from Manchester, Tenn., and like all the other witnesses, he corroborated the testimony of Otto McNamara, George Davis, Beckoff and others of the dynamiters who were previously on the stand.

WRECKED HIS BUSINESS.

Mr. Von Spreckelsen was an independent contractor at Indianapolis in 1907, and among other large contracts was erecting the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul. He was approached by union officials with the demand that he employ only union laborers, but he remonstrated to this on the ground that some of his men had been with him for more than fifteen years and had given him absolute trust in their faithfulness and service. He was told that he would be made an example of, and that what would happen to him would be an interesting wedge in the struggle to unionize the industry.

That night three of the structures on which he was engaged were dynamited, as was his barn. Two of his men houses and all the machinery were wrecked up. Other similar jobs finally wrecked his business.

CLOCKS EXHIBITED.

R. Johnson, the first witness on the stand for the day, told of being approached by the union officials who said he had been up to the front of a bridge at Peoria, Ill., to the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company of New York. He was threatened, and shortly after the witness was attacked by a gas pistol. Frank E. Ervin, a telegraph operator, working at Wheeling Junction, not far from Steubenville, on the Ohio River, told of five explosions that occurred in the afternoon of June 26, 1909, when the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge was dynamited. A very important item in his testimony was the introduction of clock jugs, which he had picked up on the scene of the explosion on the morning this happened. They are identical to those of clocks found in pockets of the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at Indianapolis.

FUNERALS OF MEN KILLED IN RACES.

FINAL RITES FOR TWO WERE HELD YESTERDAY.

The bodies of Lewis Jackson, race-car driver, and L. B. Jenkins, camera man, were laid to rest in local cemeteries.

The funerals of the man who drove the car which killed three persons besides himself, at the Grand Prize automobile race last Saturday at Santa Monica, and one of his victims were held yesterday. Services for Lewis Jackson, who drove the car, were conducted at the Breeze Bros. parlor at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The interment was at Rosewood Cemetery.

L. B. Jenkins, camera man for a local moving-picture company, who was struck by the hurtling car and died an hour afterward, was buried in the Hollywood Cemetery at 10:30 a.m. Services for the two deceased were held at the chapel of the cemetery. Rev. M. P. McClure, pastor of the First Hollywood Presbyterian Church, who officiated at the services, delivered the funeral sermon.

Mr. Jackson leaves a mother, Mrs. Lewis Jackson of No. 1186 East Fortieth street, and the widow.

A son, a daughter and a son-in-law, the mechanician of the death car was almost uninjured.

L. B. Jenkins, the camera man, had been a resident of Los Angeles for several years and had been with the company for three years. He was well-liked by his fellow-workers and was regarded as one of the best camera men in the company. He had been married but seven years. His residence is at No. 1944 Highland avenue. He leaves the widow, Mrs. L. B. Jenkins. A benefit fund is being raised among the members of the company who were associated with Mr. Jenkins.

Supposed Invulnerable Part of His Anatomy Yields to Beam of Wood.

Tradition, a beam of wood and Arthur Harris's skull were all cracked yesterday. The beam, that had supported a foot rest on a booth back stand, met Mr. Harris's cranium with violence, and both gave way. Tradition suffered because Mr. Harris is of African ancestry, and therefore presumably invulnerable about the neck.

At the time of the collision the foot rest was in the hand of Abram Lincoln Range, also colored, and a shoe polisher at the Natick Hotel. The blow ended trouble of a personal nature, but when surgeons at the Receiving Hospital found Mr. Harris's skull was fractured Range was locked in the County Jail and charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

JAPANESE Y.W.C.A. TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

WILL PRESENT PLAY SOLVING INTERESTING PROBLEMS.

Pantomime, with Antiphonal Readings in English and Language of the Nipponese, will be Special Feature, and Story of Picture Bride is to be Set Forth.

The Japanese Y.W.C.A. has in preparation an entertainment and banquet of the International Sales Managers' Association, will be held at 6:30 p.m. tonight at the Alexandria Inn. Among the speakers will be Lieut.-Gov. Stephen and Carl Aratani. A dance on closing salesmen will be participated in by six members of the association. Lieut.-Gov. Stephens will serve as one of the judges. Amusement will be provided by Fred Woodcock, manager of the Arkansas Cavalier. Announcement will be made of the excursion to the harbor of the sales managers as guests of the Harbor Commission. The event is planned for the afternoon of December 5. Mayor Woodcock will pilot the guests.

A pantomime, "Abou Ben Adhem," will be acted by little Japanese girls, members of the Sunbeam Club. A classic Japanese tableau, "Shushiki," is to be given by Miss Shinobu Mizoguchi, and Shizuko Aratani, 6 years old, will make her first public appearance in a flower dress accompanied on the piano by Hans Akita, only a few years her senior.

The main feature will be a pantomime, "The Picture Bride," with scenes during the action. The story gives the experiences of a girl who comes to this country as a picture bride, and shows how she is taken care of by the women of the Y.W.C.A. The contrast between the diffident country girl in the first scene and the happy young woman who is busily learning English in the second is made manifest. The numbers of the Japanese Y.W.C.A. are the actors in this pantomime, and show considerable natural dramatic talents.

Of even less interest is the symbolic playlet, "Japanese-American Problems," written for the occasion by the Rev. M. Furuya, whose unique play, "The Man of Steel," was written while he was a member of the Gamut Club, created much favorable comment. The characters in this little playlet are taken by Mrs. E. K. Bent, Robert Doster and James Browder, and some of the Japanese-Americans in the most simple and natural manner.

The entertainment will be presented Friday evening at the Ethel Club, Eighteenth and Figueroa streets, and Saturday in T.M.A. Hall, No. 231 South Spring street. The proceeds are to be devoted to the work of the Japanese Y.W.C.A.

The "Living Trust"—Convenient, Safe, Profitable

Thoughtful business men all over the nation have adopted the living trust method of conserving their surplus profits, income producing properties, stocks, bonds and other securities.

They have turned over the management, protection and conservation of all or a portion of their estates to large, experienced, responsible trust companies under special forms of trust agreements—naming themselves or members of their families as beneficiaries.

The total value of property held by Trust Companies under living trusts in the U. S. is estimated to be over two billion, two hundred million dollars. Through living trusts with responsible Trust Companies, business men throw an ironclad safeguard around their fortunes. They receive the highest rates of interest consistent with safety because the trust company is in a position to buy and sell on better terms, obtain better rate of income, and invest and re-invest in safer securities than can the ordinary individual. A consultation will cost you nothing—and may save your entire estate.

Yesterday Mrs. McManus, F. O. Johnson and the women of the Parachute Club board the members of the Board of Education and Dr. Albert Shiel, superintendent of schools, down to look over the handsome building which is to become the new home of the school.

Six firemen were injured, a $3000 beaver overcoat belonging to William Farnum was destroyed, and many scenarios consumed in a fire which wrecked one of the plants of the Fox Film Corporation, Sunset Boulevard and Western avenue early yesterday morning, causing a total damage in excess of $20,000.

The injured firemen were taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. None of them were seriously hurt. The injured were Capt. Martin O'Malley, Frank A. Gurskell, J. W. Richards, P. E. Crutchfield, H. W. White and Andrew Davies. They were rescued by falling timbers, and each received cuts and bruises demanding surgical attention.

They were first seen by J. A. Collingsworth, who noticed the fire department, then tried to extinguish the blaze single-handed.

The plant was constructed by Thomas A. Dixon, who was located by the Fox Film Corporation. Laboratories for the Fox company are being constructed across the street from the scene of the fire.

The fire started in the office of the company, spreading through the studios.

Because of the inflammable nature of the structure, all—Hollywood was illuminated by 100 feet in the air.

Many valuable reels stored in a fireproof vault escaped the flames.

BIG LAYERS AT CHICKEN SHOW.Van Nuys Association Gives its Annual Exhibit.Special Display of Utility Stock the Feature.Two-day Pullets that Lay by Electric Light.

At 10 o'clock this morning the Van Nuys Poultry Association will open its annual show at No. 409 South Hill street with an exhibition of 500 chickens, representing 150 ranches in the Van Nuys district and an annual income of $25,000. The show this year is confined to utility stock, although there are some blooded cockerels and hens to show the difference between the egg producer and the more fancy chicken. The show will close Friday.

The White Leghorns are ambitious. In evidence of this, six of them laid an egg within two hours after they were placed in the pens yesterday afternoon. There is a kitchen townie who makes a crusty bread & ham and egg sandwich, the cook is instructed to prepare "a crackle and a crust, under cover." That kitchen should be better equipped. At least a dozen White Leghorns from the Van Nuys district might draw attendance there so the "crackle" portion of the sandwich would be strictly fresh.

UTILITY STOCK.

The show is almost opposite the Hotel Clark. There are a number of chickens here and many rooms. Commercial chickens of my sort will be particularly popular around the Clark this week. When visiting the show one first sees a hen that to all appearances, is trying to outdo Schumann-Helk or Norgess. Then comes another, then still another. They introduced the pullets to electric light at 3 o'clock one morning and several of the hens laid two eggs that day. The 274 hens now yield an average of 40 eggs per day and are evidently quite willing to lay up at 3 o'clock in the morning.

The Holly Ranch is represented by an exhibition of 60 chicks at a time. A dozen of this bunch is a new hatchery now under construction by owner R. R. Holloway, president of the poultry association. This, it is said, will be one of the finest in the State in the matter of appearance.

READY-HATCHED CHICKS.

A portion of the 75,000 acres of the San Fernando Valley is devoted to the Schofield-Olsen pullet ranch, which has a capacity of 20,000 chickens. Here chicks are already hatched, but not ready to lay. The intention of the association is to enable the buyer to secure his land and provide him with chickens ready to lay if he wishes. A buyer, through the Schofield-Olsen plant, is able to avoid most of the risks of raising young chickens.

Van Nuys is the center of the poultry-raising industry of Southern California and at present there are more than 100,000 laying hens. When in 1912 began the industry. At that time there were less than 150 chickens in the valley, which is now served with aqueduct water. The city headquarters of the association are at room #21 W. I. Hollingsworth Building.

Twelve judges at the poultry show this forenoon will award prizes. There is no admission charged at the show.

ALLEGED NEGLIGENCE.

Six follows accident in which film attachment figured.

J. C. Smith and J. E. Bernard, operating as Smith & Bernard, brought an action in the United States District Court, yesterday, against the Vitagraph Company of America, on account of a judgment of $5,000,000, for an alleged negligence of an employee of the defendant corporation, in injuring J. C. Rhodes, an employee of the plaintiff.

Rhodes, who was awarded a judgment by the Industrial Accident Commission, which was paid, was on a truck loaded with paraphernalia used in making motion pictures in the hills behind Los Angeles and was thrown therefrom and suffered severe injuries. Smith & Bernard furnished dogs and sledges for alleged Alaska pictures made by the Vitagraph company.

IS "THIRD RAIL" STUFF.

Attorney-General decides confiscated whisky must be destroyed.

Three trunks filled of bottled whisky will be destroyed by E. M. Blanford, special agent of the Department of Justice today, according to an order entered yesterday by United States District Judge Trippet. The stuff was confiscated when Fred and George Tavorin and Leonardo Carrillo, were taken into custody for sending shipments of whisky from this city to Tucson, without the wet goods being properly labeled. The wet goods pleaded guilty and paid stiff fines.

What to do with the liquor was undetermined until an order was received from Atty.-Gen. George that it be destroyed. It is claimed that the wet goods is adverised, and belongs to what is known among those who imbibe it as the "third rail" sort.

NOSE THREATENED.

Albert White, the man whose nose Max Goldstein had largely responsible for the present residence of Albert White in the County Jail. He appeared yesterday morning before Justice Summerfield, and the trial was adjourned, and belongs to what is known among those who imbibe it as the "third rail" sort.

Pattern & Model Hats Reduced One-Fourth

In all probability the very pattern or model hat which you have been admiring (at considerably higher price) is included in this collection which we offer now at a reduction of one-fourth.

There are many of the sets—neck and shoulder scarf with hat to match, now so fashionable; arm bags and hats to match, also.

Many of the beautiful models are trimmed with real mole, kolinsky, ermine, seal—the choicest products of world-famous designers of high-class millinery. And inasmuch as these are pattern hats, there are no duplicates, of course—either here or elsewhere hereabouts.

Women in search of dignified, aristocratic headwear at a fraction of its true worth will be first to make selection from these wonderfully fetching creations. The former prices ranged from $20 to $70—now any one of them is yours at

$15 to $52.50

WHALE STEAK
NEW DELICACY.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE:

LONG BEACH, Nov. 21.—Delivering a solar plexus blow to the high cost of living in this city, Capt. John D. Loop, Long Beach's veteran whale hunter, today flooded the local meat and fish markets with choice cuts of tenderloin from a huge "marine buffalo" or finback whale, which is also sometimes called the "venison of the sea," because of its delicious flavor.

Capt. Loop killed the huge leviathan, which is one of only a few that have ever been captured on this Coast, sixteen miles off the western end of Catalina, after a thrilling running fight of three hours.
The big finback, with two harpoons in its body and a ter rific gap in its head from a bomb shot, gave the launches Camiguin and Fashion a five mile chase and stubborn fight before it finally gave up with a second rifle shot in its side.
The whale measured sixty feet in length and its weight was estimated at forty tons.

NOT A CHANCE.
White couldn't use his far-famed left hand because Britton did not have an opportunity to do so.
Yet at all times Britton was sharp and his friend was disappointed in his judgment of distance, usually so accurate. Often he swung wildly, but truth compels the statement that he was rather case of wonder than skill.

TIMEKEEPER IS THE GOAT.

Wild End Run Ends in a Very Disastrous Manner.

U.S.C. Scrubs Manage to Score on Brothers.

Varsity Fails to Demolish the Youthful Squad.

BY WARDE FOWLER.

The only thing that was really settled in the Varsity-Freshman football game at U.S.C. yesterday was Owen Bird, Mr. Bird, who was acting as timekeeper, became involved in a very end run of the untamed freshman team and was deeply planted in a swamp out in the rear of Bovard Field.

The timekeeper had come to the training quarters where he stood under a shower bath and allowed the game to wander on into the twilight. As far as Owen Bird was concerned, he knew what he was going on. Darkness and the keylessness of approaching night wound up the affair.

Score: Freshmen, 7; Varsity, 26.

SURPRISES.

Surprises and happy incidents followed in showers throughout the whole game. Several end runs, fumbles, free-for-all fights, Arbor Day celebrations with timekeepers as trees, etc., etc., were only a few of the surprises furnished for the nominal price of $1.25 for the ever it was. The schedule of events dashed up at this game was more elaborate than at any football carnival in so far as the season. It should have been advertising to all ends, boxing and swimming regatta, rather than a football game.

From the very first moment there was trouble. The Fresh kicked off and recovered a yard when Murray fumbled the kick. All the young men in the bleachers who were wearing the green and orange hats cheered up on their team and looked forward for a touchdown. The above-mentioned hats denote freshmen and are the most surprising combination of colors ever seen anywhere. The coaches did not fail to notice them with themselves, but they positively refuse to claim in with any other colors on the文明的 citizens. The freshman team was spared the indignity of wearing these caps and played quite a respectable game in consequence.

MANY OTHERS.

To prove that Murray was not the only fumbler on the field the Freshmen proceeded to tumble the ball through the middle of the field again started running. Here the band which proved successful when Murray broke away and ran sixty yards for a touchdown, Malette falling to his knees.

The Varsity kicked off to the Freshmen and soon recovered the ball on an intercepted forward pass. Huycke managed to get away for a 20-yard run, but went out of the 5-yard line. During the course of this run Huycke pulled one of the neatest stunts seen on Bovard Field for several years. One of the scrubs came charging toward him with hand in his pocket and Kelly stretched for a tackle. Huycke sidestepped this onrushing youth, grasped him firmly by the back of the neck and violently propelled him almost to the outer limit of the stand. How the scrub ever managed to stop himself is what most people are wondering about.

LUCK.

It is lucky that his brakes held, however, for if he had gone through the stand the spectators would have entered a hospital court where the feminine scrubs were playing their sister sops, and seven or eight ladies, not to speak of children, probably would have fainted.

In the second quarter the fresh gained possession of the ball on their own 20-yard line. They immediately sent out a 40-yard run to three down. Here the Varsity held and the ball changed hands. The more experienced veterans now began a slow procession up the field, the scrub being forced to kick when they were within twenty yards of the goal. Huycke was selected to boot the ball, which he did, but not between the posts.

At the point Kelly was almost ruined when three hunky scrubs climbed on his noble broad shoulders and attempted to knock the skids out from under him. All of these freshmen were coming from different directions and the next at Kelly.

IMMEDIATELY.

As soon as the scrubs received the ball they kicked. On the first down Malette tore loose and ran fifty yards for the second touchdown. The kick was made easily. Varsity, 12; Freshmen, 7.

Malette opened the second half by kicking the ball into a scrub's arms not three yards from the kick-off. The former was attempting to roll the ball instead of hitting Charlie Johnson's stomach, where it stuck. There was an exchange of kicks, Kelly finally breaking away for a 75-yard run and a touchdown.

The Freshmen started with all the freshmen going after Kelly rather than the ball. When a signal was settled after a hard fight in which the players of the Midwest, the Southern and the Pacific Northwest associations, the latter by proxy, were opposed to the delegates of the middle Atlantic, New England, Central and West.

The next quarter the new convention will be held at St. Louis.

TEX RICKARD GIVES TEDDY BEARSKIN.

BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES. Nov. 21.—A $10,000 polar bear skin that was put on exhibition at the Waldorf-Astoria on Monday afternoon was stolen on the way to Oyster Bar. Tex Rickard, one of the men said to be a perfect one of its kind and measuring 11 feet 6 inches from tip to tip, and became its purchaser.

Mr. Rickard, although he took the opposite side in the betting from the way the colonel was likelihood in political campaign, is an ardent admirer of the colonel's and sent the skin to him with his compliments. It is said that when Mr. Rickard was Mayor of New Albany, Indiana, during the world war, he tried to get a white bear skin to present to the colonel, but never could find just the specimen he wished.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

At Home: Stocks were in free supply on the New York Exchange during the course of the irregular market. Copper and other issues which recently registered the greatest gains were subject to recession, severe in instances. Mexican securities were benefited by the progress of affairs across the Rio Grande, substantial gains being made. Bonds followed the course of stocks.

(Abroad): Within the last six months Japanese merchants and exporters have invested nearly $50,000,000 in American securities, according to estimates in New York banking quarters.

A UNENVIRABLE CONDITION.
It does not necessarily follow that a man is a criminal because he is found in financial straits, but the condition of abject poverty is often an indication of a pitiable lack of responsibility. It is the part of wisdom to live within one's means and to prepare in prosperous times for the day when fickle fortune may choose to turn her face another way.

NOTHING QUITE LIKE IT.
Pasadena, with the co-operation of every other city in Southern California, is planning the most gorgeous midwinter flower show ever to have been given in the Crown City. In all the world there is nothing quite so beautiful as Pasadena's annual Tournament of Roses, and the thousands of tourists who yearly attend this floral festival do not need to be told by real estate men that this is the land of flowers.

REMEMBERING NAMES.
When a man tells you that he remembers your face, but that he has forgotten your name, nine times out of ten he only means to politely admit that, although you may be worthy of remembrance, he has not thought it worth while to keep your name in his book of memory. Remembering names is not so much a gift as it is a matter of bestowing your undivided attention on the person to whom you are introduced.

THE COMMON CONSCIENCE.
A Vice-President Marshall relies upon the "common conscience" of mankind to make the European nations pay their debts. So far as the "common conscience" of the warring nations is concerned there is not much left of it. The common conscience of the American people will not worry itself about the troubles of those who were bunched into investing in the $500,000,000 Anglo-French unsecured loan. The Times warned its readers not to invest in it—and they didn't.

GETTING AN EDUCATION.
Fifty years ago a man who had spent his life on the western frontiers or among the wooded regions of the old South might very justly have complained that he had never had an opportunity to educate himself. Today any young man should be ashamed to make such a statement. Today every child is taught to read and write and, given this start, there are no bounds to the education that a man may secure for himself excepting the limits which each individual sets for himself. If the young man who is compelled to work for his living, instead of becoming a star athlete at some university, would spend in reading and study half the time that he spends at cards, pool and other amusements he would soon surprise both himself and friends by the splendid vocabulary and the general fund of information which he would certainly acquire. With dictionaries, text-books and all the classics of literature to be had for a song at the second-hand book stores let no young man of today claim that he "never had a chance."

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.
Apparently Pasadena's present system of administering municipal affairs through five commissioners at a salary of $3000 a year each does not meet with the general approval of the community. At any rate a special election has been called to ask the citizens to change to the "city manager" plan of government as likely to prove more efficient and less expensive to the taxpayers.

The advocates of one city manager in place of five commissioners who after election are practically beyond the control of the people declare the city will save a large sum in annual salaries, that there will be a better co-ordination of departments, that the work of the city will be more adequately specialized and that the manager can retain his position for ability only. If he fails to make good he can be removed.

We have always considered a commission form of city government unwieldy and cumbersome. Between the newly-named city manager and the old-fashioned Mayor there is not much difference. But since Pasadena might not care to go back to the Mayor she once discarded, she may be persuaded to go forward to the city manager she has not yet tried. The Crown City has never been backward in civic experimentation. So her citizens have decided to enjoy the excitement and the expense of another special election to discover if they have outgrown the commission form of city government.

After all, there are advantages in just having a Mayor and a City Council and sticking to them. That form has stood the test of many centuries.

TOPSY-TURVY BRITANNIA.
While the United States is passing child labor bills through Congress to release the children from factory conditions, child labor has become a necessity in England. In one county alone (Kent) 2437 children have been "released" from school to work on the farms. These official "releases" are a daily item of news in every county in the kingdom.

At the same time inconspicuous items appear in the press from time to time that such-and-such a school has been taken over by the authorities for a hospital or a convalescent home. Thus are the rising generation paying their share of the war.

Another item of news indicates the dearth of medical students in the colleges and the fact that the once-despised lady doctor is now receiving every encouragement to take up medical work. Cambridge University has laid aside its conservatism and opened its examinations to women students as a bait to the sex. The next generation of doctors in England will apparently be largely women.

Very curiously enough, while women are working in munition factories, while all the telegraph and messenger boys are now girls, while the car conductors and even the motor bus drivers are often women, the schools everywhere are opening evening classes to teach boys cooking. And these classes are said to be highly popular; the boys take to cooking every whit as serenely as the girls take to munitions.

And the Mayores of Rochester, who has five brothers in the war, has just been re-appointed for the third term. She has announced her intention of installing women in most of the public offices and employing chiefly policewomen, all of which duties she considers are "no jobs for men in time of war." Women are the mail carriers, women are the street cleaners, sanitary and factory inspectors everywhere are women, while in many cases domestic housework is being done by elderly men or partially disabled men.

Altogether labor conditions would seem to be confusing and ironical in England today. War for the healthy, able men; menial service for the old or disabled man. Men still guide the government of England, but they, too, are usually past their prime. Children and women working on the farms, women supplanting men in all industrial fields, educated women being registered everywhere for government clerical work, bank and insurance clerking and the like—and men making the clothes of the army; yes, and most of the clothes of the nation, for that matter. An absolutely topsy-turvy upheaval of labor conditions, no wonder bewildered questions are asked as to how things will adjust themselves after the war.

It will be difficult to corral all those "released" children back into the schools. Still more difficult to "relieve" emancipated women of their new-found industrial freedom and regular wages, and where will the "released" soldier find a suitable field in which to earn his bread? At present there are busy organizations arranging to settle discharged soldiers on the land in distant parts of the empire. That will leave England almost entirely in the hands of the women. Britannia will then be the "Motherland" indeed. Those women who have now entered the government service, the banks and the big industries as subordinates will soon be rising to positions of authority. There are already mayresses in numerous English towns. The now assured suffrage will soon lead to women members of Parliament, just as it has led to women Representatives in this country. The British Empire would seem to be a fair way to petticoat government of a pronounced order.

Some of us may yet live to see the newspapers of England devoting a back-page supplement to "Things of Interest to Men," as the London Times now does for women. Fashion notes, cooking recipes, answers to young fathers and the notable achievements of conspicuously-intelligent men will find a place thereon.

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"
"To run the country, sir," she said.

A FEARFUL FOLLY.

Direct legislation has proved a menace to good government in California. There is but a single instance where an initiative measure has become a law: yet initiative campaigns have cost the producers of the State not less than $10,000,000 in six years. Every objection urged by the real friends of good government against the adoption of this dangerous experiment has proven well founded. It has become the tool of extreme radicals, fanatics and rogues. We have had three initiative campaigns over the single tax and two expansive "wet-and-dry" campaigns. No legislation has been adopted in either; but the producers of the State have been put to an expense of the liquor question.

Finally, the time seems propitious for submission by the Legislature to the people of amendments to the State Constitution that will free the State from this continuous direct legislation menace, restore confidence in our industries and render legislation by faddists, fanatics and rogues impossible.

EMPUS FUGIT.
Glancing over some old newspapers a few days ago we noted, among other things, that the Russians and Japanese were not feeling very friendly toward each other, that Nan Patterson had killed a man and secured a theatrical engagement, and that Bryan had decided to take Washington by storm and set up his throne in the White House. We read, too, of the death of Chief Justice Fuller and of Mark Twain, of the passing of Victoria and the assassination of the beloved McKinley. Many of those events, of such seeming vital import at the time of their occurrence, are now but dimly remembered, having been crowded from our memories by fresh world-tragedies and by our struggle to live.

Producers who are trying to meet pay rolls, tax bills, rents and the high cost of living are at the mercy of these extremists. Whenever a petition signed by 25,000 electors of the State is filed with the Secretary of State that petition must be submitted to the electors at the next general election. It cannot be amended, but must go on the ballot as filed. The experience of the last

THE TOILERS.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

"You look like a busy man," said I to Rainbow Jack, the pink promoter, whom I had not seen since the election.

"Well rather," exclaimed the promoter. "I'm about as piccolo players with a hare lip.

"Whom are you doing now?" returned I pleasantly.

"I suppose you mean, what am I doing now?" said Jack.

"Oh, well, have it your own way," said I, responsibly.

"Gosh, I've got some good things up my sleeve," resumed the promoter, enthusiastically.

"If you mean those cut buttons," interrupted I, "they're bone and they exactly match your head."

"No, smarty!" exclaimed Jack.

"For one thing I'm boosting our president again. We make cast iron pretzels for free-lunch counters. But that is only a side line. I've gone back to the land. There's nothing like taking a little water and then stirring in some of our soil and climate until you get it thick enough to spread over the map with a knife."

"Sure thing," assented I. "What's your specialty this time?"

"I'm planting incandescent bulbs and raising our own electric light plants."

"Old stuff!" snorted I. "That idea came over with Noah in the ark. When do you get your juice?"

"By grafting from a currant bush," replied the promoter, sweetly.

"I might have known there was some graft or you wouldn't be in it," retorted I. "By the way, I have been doing some little ladder stuff myself."

"You don't tell me!" exclaimed the promoter. "What sort of pestering have you been doing?"

"I'm chipping away in an onion grove," answered I.

"Is that so?" said Jack, with sarcasm. "That's a fine job for a strong man. What did you have to do?"

"Mostly make up the beds," retorted I, with a grin.

"Well, why didn't you stick to the business?"

"Because there was a leak in it," shouted I, triumphantly.

"I don't see how you could lose a cent in the onion business," countered the promoter.

"I didn't," said I, desperately. "I was skin game."

"Besides that," continued the promoter, calmly, "I had a little place where I raised mock turtles for the amateur humbugs for the de facto administration. However important to our safety we may consider the continued presence of Gen. Pershing in Mexico, that presence is regarded by Carranza and his adherents as the major impediment to national acquiescence in his authority and as the chief factor which keeps alive the resentment which enables Villa to remain a constant threat to the United States."

"Is that so?" said Jack, with sarcasm. "That's a fine job for a strong man. What did you have to do?"

"Mostly make up the beds," retorted I, with a grin.

"Well, why didn't you stick to the business?"

"Because there was a leak in it," shouted I, triumphantly.

"I don't see how you could lose a cent in the onion business," countered the promoter.

"I didn't," said I, desperately. "I was skin game."

"Besides that," continued the promoter, calmly, "I had a little place where I raised mock turtles for the market. We used to stuff their breasts with seafoam and then sell them to the Alexangelus for $2 a pound. If you get the right strain of mock turtles there's big money in the business, and if you can cross the Brazilians with ours, there's a fortune in it. You can get a mock turtle that can mock 'most anything and at the same time take on a lot of flesh for the market."

"If there was so much money in the business what made you quit?" inquired I.

"I had to," replied the promoter, sadly. "The United States marshal came and looked over my turtle farm and then pinched me."

"Is that so?" exclaimed I, sympathetically.

"He said, 'I don't know what you could do to make me leave,'

"What?"

"He said I was running a shell game," replied the promoter. "But I promised to quit and they let me go. Then I tried railroading. I got a job selling hairpins on a cattle train, but there was nothing in it. After that I went into the advertising game. I got a flock of two thousand grasshoppers, painted letters on their wings and then taught them to spell signs while jumping through a hoop. But the only spell I had was a fainting one and I had to go back home and then look for a washing machine. Now I'm back in the farm game, as I told you before. Incidentally, I'm doing dry farming in a wet State and at the same time as a financier I am watering stock with a pumping plant. Are these troublous times with you, brother? You don't look as if you were dying from either hunger or thirst."

"I did have a pretty good job," explained I. "I was night watchman out here at the Swiss-cheese mine, but I had my hair cut and then went rigidly adhered to their bargains."

"I had to," replied the promoter, sadly. "The United States marshal came and looked over my turtle farm and then pinched me."

"Is that so?" exclaimed I, sympathetically.

"He said, 'What's a haircut got to do with quitting a job like that?'

"You can search me," answered I, pleasantly. "But I had to have some excuse!"

RIPPLING RHYMES

FARM CHAMPIONS.

The wrestlers and the fighters and baseball heroes, too, are boomed by sporting writers, the whole long twelve-months through. But they are sordid suckers, who for the bubble play; I sing the champion shuckers, who bust four loads a day! When the corn is ripe and yellow, and keen the autumn air, the active farmer fellow goes forth to bust his share. If he shucks bushels eighty, between the dawn and dusk, he's made a record weighty, and he can surely bust. His fame goes down to zero and he must bow before the shining cornfield hero with forty bushels more! I've seen the champion shucker, who won a township fame, in his best bib and tucker, enjoying men's acclaim. He has no use for medals, no loving cups he needs, and he puts on soft pedals when talking of his deeds. No sporting scribe indorses, and no promoter knows this gent who drives his horses down the long corn rows, and beats the rival shuckers because he likes to win—they boast the prancing muckers, who risk of dope and gin. —WALT MASON.

Earth's Hottest Place.

[Indianapolis News:] Muscat, the capital of Oman, on the Persian Gulf, is called the "hottest place on earth" by a writer in Travel. The day he arrived in this ancient capital the thermometer registered 125 degrees Fahrenheit. To escape the midday heat the inhabitants resort to underground shelters called "serdabs," the sunken windows of which are stuffed with brush that is sprinkled with water so as to establish a current of cool air. As the center of the date trade, Muscat is in frequent communication with America.

MEXICAN MOTIVES.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

BY JOHN L. W. BIRKINBINE, Author of "The Story of Iron;" Formerly Chief Engineer of the Oaxaca Coal & Iron Company and of the Pueblo and Pacific Railroad, Mexico.

TO THE American intelligence the backing and filling of the Mexican commissioners in the Atlantic City conference is explosive only on the general ground of Mexican unreliability. If, however, we will try to put ourselves in their place we will do our best to make them somewhat more charitable inclined towards their motives.

In a previous editorial I pointed out the two essentials for the success of the de facto government as being only the de facto prestige and the other the economic. One alone will not suffice; the two together are indispensable for the elimination of Villa and similar bandit-revolutionaries and for the ordinary, legitimate running expenses of the Carranza administration.

The Mexican commissioners are very properly—loyal to what they deem the interests of the government which has delegated them. They realize, far more shrewdly than can even the United States commissioners, who consider them the absolutely essential nucleus of the two factors involved, prestige and cash. It is right, as well as patriotic, that they should so feel more charitably inclined towards their motives.

The high cost of the Thanksgiving turkey is expected to add to the unpopularity of thanking this year.

There should really be more感激 in this country, considering what many men will do for money.

We are now threatened with a spaghetti famine, but nobody except the Italian tenors will worry about it.

All is not lost; the football coaches and managers are as busy as ever. They have all reasons for their own.

An American game of football is a mighty poor place in which to observe neutrality. It's a fight from start to finish.

IMPORTANT WATCHFULNESS.

According to the official pronouncement as to spring fashion shirts for women will be longer, wide sleeves, the shoptops, and with less fullness than in preceding seasons.

This will be a hard blow to corsets.

American manufacturers of shirts are finding that it is hard to sell their wares in Spain for the reason that the shirts offered are of the coat variety. Old Castle, a large of folks in dear old America, has the shirts that must be put in over the head.

The California realty dealers who have just closed their season at Oceanside went on record as favoring State Licenses for all realty agents. It would be a great measure of protection for those who put their money in real estate and aim at legitimate dealers who are not in opposition against wild-cat operators.

Former Warden Thomas H. Morris of Sing Sing says that he is convinced that there are no bad men in this world. Isn't it a better guess to admit that there are very few? He was about the last man in the Democratic lame-duck, yet Wilson had his sweet little kiss. Morris came into another term, and nobody is more surprised than himself.

Massachusetts has tried to open primary and returned to its old-fashioned method of party agreement under which Democrats and Progressives confirm their activities to their organizations. This is the only sensible plan. The idea that a man can be a Republican and Democrat at the same time, or one of the anomalies of latter-day America.

HOW THEY VOTED.

J. Wilson, secretary of the state election in his report on the results of the anti-single-tax election in the various counties of California, has declared 11,111 votes for the single tax and 246,951 votes for a majority against it.

The total majority in the so-called "home rule" in propositions 1 and 2 was 20,657 votes in year and only 845 votes

TALK ON APPRAISALS.

Realty Board at Meeting Today will Set Forth the Work of its Special Committee and City and County Officials will be the Hearers.

One of the most important meetings planned by the Los Angeles Realty Board this year will be held in the men's grill of the Broadway Dinerette Saturday, when members of the board, prominent business officials, business men and others gather to hear reports of the work of the new Realty Board Appraisal Committee. The speaking programme, it is announced, will begin promptly at 12:45 o'clock.

The judges of the Superior Court, the Mayor, City Council, City Attorney, the members of the official bureaus of Los Angeles, the City Supervisors, representative railway men and others prominent in the business life of the city and county have been invited to be present. Scientific progress, valuation, as being conducted by the Realty Board Committee, has attracted wide attention on account of the important part they play in public administration.

F. McGarry, chairman of the committee, will be the principal speaker, and will go exhaustively into the whole subject of real estate appraisals.

Committee, who are expected to speak are W. M. Garland, James H. Wagner, Robert M. Allen, George M. Sorelle, W. L. Hollingsworth, S. M. Cooper, L. M. Shepherd and Edward Hart.

Japanese Indict on White Slave Charge is Missing.

United States District Judge Tripet yesterday directed remanded the bond filed by Yank Kautzman, an Armenian, Robert Connally, and Amelia Connally, were cited to appear December 21, to show cause why an execution should not be issued against them.

Kautzman was indicted for violating the Mann White Slave Act in bringing a Mexican woman across the line at Nogales and afterwards placing her in a house of ill-fame at the harbor.

CONDITIONS IN GERMANY.

Mrs. V. E. Lindsey, who has recently returned from a four years' stay in Germany, will speak tomorrow evening at the meeting of the Town of Vernon, No. 1345 South Figueroa street, on "Conditions in Germany Before and During the War."

Mrs. Lindsey was active in the work of benevolent institutions in Hanover after the beginning of the war, and will tell of her observations.
